BISHOP HOBAN HIGH SCHOOL

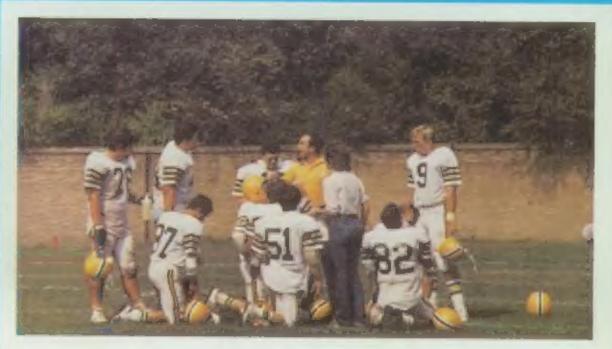

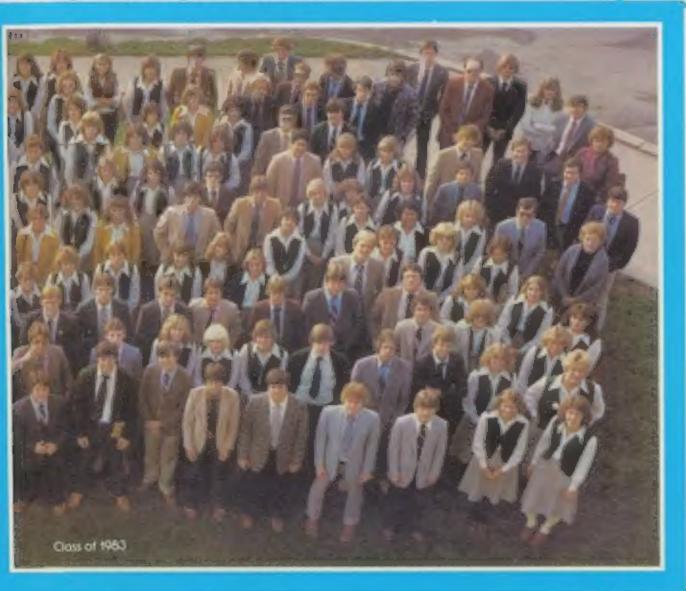

The year's opening Liturgy finds homeroom students presenting plants which will serve as symbols of growth representing the Hoban community.

Signs of change, tradition and growth have dominated life at Bishop Hoban High School this year. The school recognized that each student had a different path to follow and the necessary signs of direction were provided. The guideposts we followed pointed to achievement along paths well established and paths not yet followed. The signs offered the spiritual direction needed to appreciate life, the intellectual direction needed to succeed in life and the social direction needed to enjoy life.

As their final days at Hoban draw to a close, seniors' smiles reflect good memories, achievement and relief.

Ring serves as sign of commitment

The theme selected by the junior class was, "There's a time there's a moment." The time was October 7, 1982; the moment was the Junior Ring Ceremony. Although the journey to this moment seemed forever, it passed quickly with the voice of Father Jordan etching in memory the importance of this time and moment

Instead of the traditional day program, this year the ceremony was held at night allowing more parents, teachers and friends to attend. Principal Father John Jordan celebrated the Mass and delivered the homily. Father spake of the ring as a sign of the marriage between Bishop Hoban High School and the students

The extensive preparations for the beautiful ceremony and the social that followed were made by a committee of juniors under the direction of Sister Anita Marie, R.S.M. Due to their efforts. October 7, 1982 became an unforgettable date for the members of the Class of 1984

Groups blend for spectacular show

No majorette routine could run so smoothly without the cide of equipment managers Cheryl Brodhead and Tammy Bmy

Like merging traffic on a busy highway. Hoban's marching units blend perfectly and the result is a smooth-flowing show. As the routines have become more complex, equipment managers have been added to prepare the field and help with the equipment.

A new year brought new projects to one of Hoban's most active groups. The Christians Life Communiry under the direction of Sister Joan Daniel continued to reach out as a visible sign of "Christianity in action The already popular Twilight Retreats and prayer services continued and a new program, the Clown Ministry was initiated. The program was estab shed to bring juy and friendship to a variety of people in the community. Hoban's reputation as a school which shows concern to the less fortunate was enhanced as the students spread a true Christian example throughout the community

Library serves as learning center

A new study half policy offered many students the opportunity to become better acquainted with Bishop Hoban's beautiful and well-equipped library. Sister Aldonna and her assistants aided students in finding materials needed for projects and research assignments. Other students enjoyed the peaceful atmosphere and used their time to read, study, or do homework assignments.

Many outlets available for talents

Very few Hoban students finish their day at 2-40, Each afternoon many students simply make the switch from curricular to extracurricular activities

As usual, Hoban's Forensics Team proved to be a strong contender in the Catholic Forensic League. Team members competed throughout the year debating whether America's social needs are more important than its defense needs Hoban's newest dub is the Rifle Club. Members are taught the rules of hunting and safety. Members used King's College's rifle range to practice.

Hoban excels in "show business"

In the finest tradition of Hoban musicals, "Annie Get Your Gun became the tenth stage production to thrill audiences. Hoban's talented directors and students lived up to one of "Annie's" popular songs, "Anything you can do I can do better."

A hectic schedule was followed as Sister Leonsta, Mr. Richards, and Miss Manganiello prepared the actors, musicians and chorus Behind the scenes Mr. Davenport worked with the stage arew and Miss Bernadine Borinski trained a number of girls and boys to master a number of intricate dance routines

The lead roles of Annie and Frank Butler were expertly portrayed by Katie Mulderig and Shawn Thornton. When the curtain opened on November 20, a full house was greeted to a marvelous presentation of the always-popular. Irving Berlin play. The tremendous response to the play was proof of its great success. When all was finished the cast and crew held a porty in the cafeteria.

Tough Argents establish new record

The 1982 Argent football team made history by finishing with a 4-6-1 record — the best record since the school opened. Coach Nick Ametrano's powerful and talented team was an authentic contender in the Valley league. Four of the Argent's losses were decided by a touchdown or less Hobon's offense concentrated on its great passing attack led by senior quarterback Kurt Kwak, At the receiving end of the ball were John Shinal, Tim Wolsieffer and right end John Yencha. Leading the ground attack were Senior Bob Johnson and Sophomore Tony Caffrey. Anchoring the lines on both defense and offense was exceptional senior lineman Jim Ostrowski In late November, Ostrowski was named to the All State 1st Team as offensive rackle, bringing great honor to himself his coaches and his school.

It was a season packed with spirited enthusiasm. There were many exciting moments for the players and their fans. Among the highlights were Kurt Kwak's 53 yard touchdown pass to Shinal or Honover and a game-winning tackle by Bert Noll which saved Hoban's win against Lehman. And of course, no one could forget the four quarter deluge at Plains stadium when the Argents ramped through inches of water and mud to defeat Nanticoke

Argent girls capture District Title

It was the year of the Ar . a r gits cross country! Coach Kevin Davenport's female runners brought home more than their fair share of prizes. The girls captured the District Iwo championship beating Abington Heights by a point. Prior to this, the gits received the first place trophy in the Mountain City Invitational and shared the League's top spot with Lunkhannock after finishing with an 11-1 record. It was a combined effort by seniors and underclassmen which garnered so many awards for the airls.

The magic continues as boys

The Argents rallied around the slogan "The magic of tradition Magic was only a small part of the boys' phenomenal record Hard work and a unique team spirit accounted for the continued success of a team which holds one of the longest records in the United States. The unbelievable and unprecedented statistic of 143 consecutive league victories over a ten year period stands as a tribute to the boys and the coaches. Head Coach James Higgins has guided the swim team since its inception twelve years ago. This year he was assisted by William Milz and Diving Coach James Panzitta, a former member of the team. This year's team was led by Seniors John Finn, Rich Lucas, and John Blaum. The Argents faced new league competition this season as strong Scranton teams joined the league. In addition to the league victories, the Hoban boys gained wider recognition by winning a tournament in New York State and exhibition meets against Pennsylvania's roughest reams

Following Districts, the Argents came away with seven swimmers bound for the State Meet Senior John Blaum and Freshman Tim Adams were triple winners at Districts and will be joined by Mark Dombroski, Ray Ostrowski, John Finn, Rich Lucas, and Sean McCall in competing on the State level.

Five Argents earned State honors. John Finn coped on 11th place in the 100 yard backstroke and the free relay team (Rich Lucas, John Blaum, Sean McCall and Tim Adams) also walked away with All-State medals.

Cagers rally for exciting season

Entering the District playoffs was the highlight of a very fine season of basketball by the Argents. Leading the team to victory were seniors Gary Bukeavich and Pat Hurley Bukeavich averaged twenty points a game, and Hurley played consistently good defense and added many points and assists in the Hoban attack

Providing strength in the middie was Junior John Paul Andrejko whose inside shooting and rebounding intimidated many opponents. Also playing a vital role were Mike Rinkevich, Kevin Graham, Steve Cook and Tony Caffrey

The ream began the first half with a 4-3 record. Two of the three losses were by a point and the third loss came after six avertime periods against Pittston. The second half brought a 5-2 record and earned the Argents a solid playoff spot

The boys defeated Scranton Tech 59-45 in Intra-District playoffs and earned the right to meet Bishop O'Reilly in the semi-final round. The Argents battled valiantly to a 57-46 loss.

Talented girls earn playoff position

The Lady Argents demonstrated the determination needed to transform individuals into a superior team. Cooperation and sportsmanship helped the girls surge through a successful season. Double losses to Nanticoke and Tunkhannock marred an otherwise outstanding record.

Leading the Argents in scoring were Alison Kryger and Claire Falkowski. These top scorers were complimented by the talents of Kelly Cook, Juliette Banas, Marybeth Murphy, and Mollie Mangan. The girls could not have succeeded without the expertise of Coach Ann Carlin.

The girls 10-4 season record earned them a spot in District playoffs.

No other sport relies so heavily on individual performance. The Hoban wrestlers gave their time, energy, and spirit, but bound the lack of support from the student body to be a weakness. While many of the individual matches were exating and the Argents rarely gave up without a real struggle, the team managed only a few victories

The fact that no junior high wrestling program exists has always been a drawback for the Argents

Bishop announces retirement

This year marks the end of B shap
J Carroll McCormick's reign in the Diocese of Scranton For sixteen years Bishop McCormick has guided the diocese in new directions implementing the decisions of Vatican

Bishop Hoban High School exists today because of Bishop McCormick's courage and foresight. His commitment to the youth of Wyoming Valley began in the late 1960's when a new central Catholic high school was included in a diocesan-wide building program.

During the last twelve years Bishop McCormick has wholeheartedly supported the goals and values associated with Bishop Hobon High School

As Bishop McCormick's tenure draws to a close, his hope to strengthen the Catholic Faith in Wyoming Valley is secure in the lives of those who journey through Bishop Hoban High School

Bishop J. Carroll McCormick, D.D. Bishop of Scranton

new principal

Bishop Hoban High School began its twelfth academic year with a new principal Father John Jordan was welcomed as the school's new chief administrator. Father Jordan began his duties in June and made a number of immediate changes Throughout the summer months Father Jordan worked diligently to prepare for the new school year as he met with administrators, faculty students, parents and staff to begin new programs and continue the strong tradition of excellence at Bishop Hoban. The building seemed exceptionally quiet as bells were eliminated, studies moved to classrooms and afternoon homeroom period was eliminated

Father Jordan guided Hoban in new directions throughout the year. Prior to his appointment to Bishop Hoban, Father Jordan served as principal at Bishop Neumann High School in Williamsport and Bishop Hafey High School in Hazelton

The signs are easy to read We read them and realize what lies ahead each day. We optimistically approach the lectures quizzes, tests and homework assignments waiting for the signals which send us to study halls, lunch and dismissal Students and teachers alike read the signs. Students, slumping into seats, burying faces in books, and avoiding eye contact, stand out like flashing lights when reachers ask for an explanation of the night's assignment. Smiling faces signal the joy of a speaal schedule or the approach of lunch. Piles of books topped by bewildered faces and quick steps are signs that distinguish the youngest members of the Hoban family. We watch closely and see the tired, gloomy faces on Monday mornings, the looks of antiapation as freshmen start the new year and the bored expressions of seniors as they trudge from class to class in May Teachers, like students, show those unmistakable signs of frustration and at other times, accomplishment

There are a vanety of signols seen in dassrooms. Apprehensive faces stand out as tests are returned; puzzled expressions evolve as seniors muddle through physics problems and the looks of relief and despair are seen as report cards are distributed. Not every minute of the school day is spent in classrooms, taking notes, computing, thinking Although most days provide new challenges, additional work, and rushing to complete assignments. There are also numerous chances to break away and relax. The availability of refreshments in the cafeteria studies provides a perfect opportunity for students to unwind a bit as they pursue academic work. Periods spent browsing through the library or sharing feet ings in the Awareness Room or a quick trip to the water fountain all signal those important moments to relax. As always, lunch provides that one sure time of the day when we gother together to hear the latest news of the day. The surest sign of "rest" accurs at 2-40 when Father Jordan's final blessing assures us that we have reached the end of the "work area."

During a special Liturgy celebrated for the Hoban family and John's family, Father Jordan spoke of the contributions John Kovalidk made to Bishop Hoban, Everyone who knew John, his family, friends and those at Hoban, knew how conscientious, mildmannered and pleasant he was John served Hoban faithfully, thoroughly enjoying the work he did. He left a wonderful and warm impression with all whom he met. He enjoyed life and particularly the outdoors and reminded all of the true meaning of living.

Seniors enjoy day of rest and religion

For the first time in a number of years the seniors had the privilege of having their annual retreat at Our Lady of Fatima Center in Elmhurst. The theme of the day, "Adventure," was carried through in conferences and discussions which allowed the seniors to examine their own lives and their attitudes. The goals of loving God and striving to do the very best in life were stressed as the seniors shared a day of activities, prayer, meditation and laughter with their classmates. The Fatima Center provided an ideal senting for the days of spiritual renewal.

Magmen dominated the Hoban hallways as this year's Candy Drive proved to be one of the school's most successful fundraisers. The magman stood out as a symbol of achievement as those who carried the furry little creature had the privilege of discarding uniforms and replacing the traditional green skirts and coars and ties with blue jeans and sport shirts. Casual dress was the sign of the successful salespeople and the incentive worked as the majority of Hoban students happily peddled the sweets to gain a week of jeans and sneakers

Skiing provides a challenge for Berni Kucewicz and Lisa Laibinis

This year's senior outing had all the makings of a perfect day. An early morning snowfall promised excellent conditions for skiling, skilbobbing, and snowmobiling. Swimming, tennis, and the game room provided indoor fun throughout the day. Undaunted by the cold temperatures, seniors took advantage of the cool, crisp air and late-breaking sunshine to go horseback riding and "play in the snow." The day ended with dinner and a dance

Class of '84 tours Harrisburg

On November 23, 1982, two hundred juniors ventured to the Pennsylvania State Capital to observe first hand the workings of the State government. The trip was initiated by the Social Studies Department

The day began at 8:30 when the juniors boarded the buses and headed ed south on Route 81. Arriving in the capital two and a half hours later the Class of 1984 was given a four of the Capital Bullding. The juniors then visited the Senate Chamber and moved on to the House Chamber where they met State Representative Kevin Blaum. Mr Blaum was most helpful in providing information concerning the House sessions and the transaction of State government

Religious life vital to Hoban family

The most important signs at Bishop Hoban High School are those which reflect the purpose of the school's existence. Besides the many liturgies celebrated throughout the year by the Hoban family, a number of other projects help students and faculty alike to strengthen the Christian community at Hoban The school's opening Mass set the tone of the year with the theme of spiritual growth. This growth was obvious in the variety of good deeds undertaken by the students.
